

A new world order is in formation

written by Ruth Wasserman Lande | 09.01.2025

Ruth Wasserman Lande: A new world order is in formation. The equation has become - radical Islam vs the rest of the world. In order to remedy an illness, there is a dire need to diagnose it correctly. □

What do we know about latest Gaza talks?

written by Prof. Kobi Michael | 09.01.2025

Prof. Kobi Michael: I cannot foresee significant progress until President Trump assumes office. While I hope my assessment is wrong, based on my understanding of Hamas and the present situation, I do not believe we will see any breakthroughs in the near future.

Gaza terrorists likely have ‘a few hundred’ rockets left

written by Prof. Kobi Michael | 09.01.2025

Prof. Kobi Michael: I think we're talking about a few hundred rockets. We have to remember that Hamas prepared in advance for launching very large barrages at Israel, and hence, many rockets were prepared ahead of time," including in underground locations and in orchards.

Currently, the vast majority of the Hamas and PIJ arsenal has been destroyed. Some of its precious few remaining rockets are being launched as IDF forces close in on them.

Israeli soldiers face growing risk of arrest abroad over Gaza

written by Arsen Ostrovsky | 09.01.2025

Arsen Ostrovsky: The actions of the Hind Rajab Foundation amounted to “lawfare,” a term used to describe the strategic use of legal action to damage an opponent.

The biggest impact here will be a reconsideration of soldiers’ travel plans to certain destinations and an adverse effect on diplomatic relations between Israel and those countries that entertain these baseless legal assaults.

The incoming Trump administration will also have a key role to play. They have already threatened to unleash a fury of sanctions against the International Criminal Court, which ought to be extended to any country that seeks to entertain this egregious abuse of the law by extremist anti-Israel groups hounding IDF soldiers.

Hamas' main goal has been to ensure its survival and control of Gaza

written by Asher Fredman | 09.01.2025

Asher Fredman: Every time Hamas saw American pressure on Israel, it gave Hamas hope that it would survive, and only led to further 'hardening of its heart', making a hostage deal more difficult. A US-led maximum pressure campaign on Tehran, or even joint US-Israel strikes on Iran, could reduce the fear of Iranian arms smuggling into Gaza.

Experts Warn of Israeli Intelligence Lapses

written by Prof. Kobi Michael | 09.01.2025

Prof. Kobi Michael: It was clear for a long time that with the aid of Iran, Hamas had been collecting intelligence methodically and doing so in a professional manner. This also shows Israel's great permeability; it wasn't too hard of a job.

Hamas did an excellent job using OSINT (open-source intelligence) and gained access to CCTV cameras, which are so prevalent today. Together, this was an endless source of intelligence.

After a Year of War, What Does 2025 Hold for Israel?

written by Prof. Kobi Michael | 09.01.2025

Prof. Kobi Michael: 2025 will not be a less challenging and turbulent year than 2024, but it will be less bloody.

Israel is entering the new year in a much better situation than the previous year. After the attacks of October 7, 2023, Israel's regional partners began to perceive Israel as vulnerable. Allied countries in the region, particularly the Abraham Accords countries, had not anticipated Israel being caught off guard by Hamas, suffering such heavy losses, or appearing unprepared to respond. Israel had built a reputation as the region's leader in countering the threat posed by Iran, and the attacks raised doubts about the value of normalizing ties with Israel.

Israel has had successful military achievements in the Gaza Strip, Lebanon, Syria, and mainly with Iran, a country that has now been stripped of many of its capabilities and assets. It is now exposed and in a very embarrassing position.

Houthi missile targets Tel Aviv airport as Israel mulls strike on Iran

written by Prof. Kobi Michael | 09.01.2025

Prof. Kobi Michael: Israel is unlikely to be able to degrade the Yemeni group as effectively as it did Hamas and Hezbollah. They are located across a very large area in mountains and deserts so their locations are not easy to detect. We don't have intelligence as good as we have with regard Hezbollah, Syria, Iran, or Hamas. And we are talking about a distance of 1,200km, so the circumstances are pretty complicated.

Israel is likely to lean on the US-led alliance, which includes the UK, which is already engaged in a military campaign against the Houthis over their attacks on Red Sea shipping, and to try to impose a maritime blockade to cut off the group's weapons supply lines.

Netanyahu is willing to attack Iran and he understands that this is a very narrow window of opportunity, suggesting that president-elect Donald Trump would prefer Israel to strike before his inauguration on 20 January.

News organization awards U.N. Persons of the Year to Israel's fiercest anti-Semitic critics

written by Arsen Ostrovsky | 09.01.2025

Arsen Ostrovsky on News Organization decision to give its 'U.N. Persons of the Year' award to Francesca Albanese, the head of UNRWA and Antonio Guterres.

Ostrovsky: "The organization claims to be a 'women-led non-profit' that covers the U.N., women's issues and human rights," he added. To honor this group of U.N. individuals who have peddled in relentless Jew-hatred, rape denial and justification of Hamas crimes, is obscene, unconscionable and just inexcusable. They may as well have given the award posthumously to Yahya Sinwar."
