

Military Pressure and U.S.-Israel Coordination Made the ‘Impossible’ Possible

written by Asher Fredman | 13.10.2025

Asher Fredman discusses a historic day, crediting President Trump, his team, Prime Minister Netanyahu, and the IDF’s military pressure for achieving the “impossible” and securing the release of hostages. He emphasizes that crucial Israeli military pressure—including entering Gaza City and striking Doha—and close coordination between the United States and Israel were necessary to force Hamas to release the hostages and signal that the conflict must conclude.

The interview took place on Fox News, on October 13, 2025.
