

The Key Is in Qatar - U.S. Pressure Still Insufficient

written by Prof. Kobi Michael | 15.07.2025

Prof. Kobi Michael: The American administration comes closer and closer to the understanding that they didn't do or have not done enough with regard to Qatar. They have to increase the pressure on Qatar.

The idea that Hamas leaders still live in a very comfortable zone, which is Qatar — Doha — with all of their money, with all of the facilities that they use there, and they believe that they are with the upper hand and they can put demands in front of Israel and in front of the mediator including the Americans, is something that indicates that they are in a deep misperception with regard to their understanding the reality.

The interview took place on ILTV on July 15, 2025.