

U.S.-Israel War on Iran Sets Middle East Ablaze

written by Prof. Kobi Michael | 10.03.2026

Prof. Kobi Michael: This is part of war, and unfortunately we have gotten used to it. The number of missiles Iran was firing at Israel appeared to be falling by the day, suggesting Tehran's strike capacity was declining. No one is happy about this, but everyone understands we had no other choice.

Published in Caixin Global, March 10, 2026.

*The opinions expressed in Misgav publications are the authors' alone.

