A War Israel Can’t Afford to Wait For

written by Dr. Limor Nobel | 16.03.2025

Dr. Limor Nobel: Israel is approaching a critical strategic moment. Terrorist organizations in Judea and Samaria are likely waiting for the right opportunity to launch a large-scale attack. If Israel resumes its military operations in Gaza, these groups may see it as a chance to strike. Given the presence of Muslim Brotherhood-affiliated groups along its borders, Israel must recognize that a violent confrontation is not a question of if, but when. To avoid being caught off guard and dragged into conflict on the enemy’s terms, Israel should consider taking the initiative.